We owe our name to The Great Himalayas,
We climb and climb on our pilgrimage always.

We conquer peaks and look to the sky,
We then set course for the limitless high.

'Service' is the compass which keeps us on the track,
Country's economic programme we carry on our back.

Export, Agency, Carriage, Ship Management, Repair —
Problems ! we always have expertise to spare.

"Sri Kailash" is our new peak,
Joins 'Nanda Devi', 'Nilkantha' & 'Kedarnath' to strengthen our fleet.

Exporters, Shipowners ! If you look for service
Remember 'Himalayas' for your prosperity and peace.

GENERAL ELECTIONS

PARLIAMENT & ASSEMBLIES

AS a Sovereign Democratic Republic, India has a bicameral Legislature — The Rajya Sabha (Council of States) and Lok Sabha (The House of the People). The President heads both.

Rajya Sabha: No. of seats: 244. Nominated by President: 12. Requirements for election: Citizenship of India and over 30 years of age. Not subject to dissolution. One third members retire every three years. Members indirectly elected through State legislatures.

SIXTH LOK SABHA POLL

The Fifth Lok Sabha was dissolved on 18th January, 1977, although its term was extended first upto February, 1977 and then upto February, 1978.

Polling dates: 16th March — Andhra Pradesh, Haryana, Himachal Pradesh, Meghalaya, Orissa, Punjab, Tripura, West Bengal, Andaman & Nicobar Islands, Chandigarh, Dadra and Nagar Haveli, Delhi, Goa, Daman & Diu, Lakshadweep, Pondicherry; 19th March — Kerala; 16th and 18th March — Nagaland; 16th and 19th March — Assam, Gujarat, Jammu & Kashmir, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Manipur, Rajasthan, Sikkim, Tamil Nadu, Arunachal Pradesh, Mizoram; 16th, 18th and 20th March — Bihar, Uttar Pradesh.

No. of Polling Stations: There were 373,684 polling stations in the 1977 elections as against 342,980 in 1971 and 267,555 in 1967.

Nominations: Although the number of elected seats to Lok Sabha had been increased to 542 as against 522 in the previous election the number of nominations received were 4,317 in 1977 as against 4,455 in 1971.

Personnel Engaged: A total of nearly 1·36 million personnel were engaged for the elections.

Cost of Poll: The poll cost Rs. 150 million — 200 per cent more than the expenditure incurred in the 1967 general election.

Electorate: The number of people allowed to vote was 173 million in first elections of 1951; 193 million in the second in 1957; 216 million in the third in 1962; 251 million in the fourth in 1967; 271 million in the fifth in 1971; and 318 million in the sixth in 1977. Total number of electorates was estimated (in February 1978) to be 330,120,669.

Women Candidates: There were 70 women contesting the 1977 Lok Sabha elections of whom 13 were from Uttar Pradesh and 8 each from Maharashtra and Bihar.

Women Voters: In the first general election in 1952, only 28,132,000 (37·1 per cent) out of the 77,286,000 women voters went to the polling booths.

But, 51,128,000 out of the 94,461,000 men voters exercised their franchise, constituting 55 per cent.

In the 1967 general election, 66,264,000 out of the 119,434,000 women voters and 86,460,000 out of the 129,569,000 men voters registerd their votes — 55·5 per cent and 66·7 per cent respectively.

While there was a sharp rise of 18·4 per cent in the number of women voters between 1952 to 1967, the increase in the case of men voters was only 11·7 per cent during this period.

The gap in the percentage of votes polled by men and women in 1952 was 17·9. This narrowed down in the subsequent general elections — 15·5 in 1962 and 11·2 in 1967. This gap decreased further in the 1971 election when [illegible] million women voters cast their votes.

The following statement shows the total number of constituencies, number of electors and polling stations, state-wise for the 1977 general elections.

MONOPOLIES & RESTRICTIVE TRADE PRACTICES COMMISSION, Travancore House, Kasturba Gandhi Marg, New Delhi 110001.

The Commission started functioning from August 6, 1970. The Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1969 has been enacted to ensure that the operation of the economic system does not result in the concentration of economic power to the common detriment and to provide for the control of monopolies and the prohibition of monopolistic and restrictive trade practices. The Commission makes enquiries and reports to the Central Govt. on matters referred to it by the Central Govt. under various sections dealing with the expansion of existing undertakings, establishment of new ones, and matters relating to mergers, amalgamations or takeovers as well as monopolistic trade practices. As regards Restrictive Trade Practices, the Commission functions like a Court. Appeals against the Commission's orders lie with the Supreme Court.

INDEX

This index has been arranged alphabetically and comprises all names of India, Nepal and Sri Lanka appearing on Map pages 3 to 13 and selected names of the other countries. Location of a place or feature is indicated in the index against each name with reference to page number of the atlas and then to the rectangle—formed on the map by the intersection of latitude and longitude—within which the name appears.

THE GIFT OF KNOWLEDGE

Maybe you had thought of toys, or fine cloth, or a trip to the circus...

He asks questions all the time. Of his teachers. His friends. But most of all, his parents. They could tell him go read books. They could tell him they don't know. Or they could tell him. If they knew.

But science is a hundred fields. A hundred books and journals. They don't have the time. Unless somebody tells them. In their language. Like SCIENCE TODAY. In 64 pages twelve times a year. And it tells almost all there is.

They could tell him. He may be your brother's son. Or your friend's. Or your neighbour's. Give him a gift. The gift of knowledge. You could give it to his father, or his brother. They will pass it on.
